Summary

As a dedicated student of Software Engineering, I am driven by a deep-seated passion for mastering the intricacies of code and design. With a focus on languages such as C++, HTML, and CSS, I am actively honing my skills to contribute meaningfully to the industry.

My journey began with an enlightening internship at #Sabzland, an experience that ignited my enthusiasm for the possibilities at the intersection of software and education. Through this journey, I'm not only gaining technical expertise but also cultivating a holistic understanding of how technology can reshape the learning landscape.
